FIVE NEW PLAYS START THE THEATRICAL DRIVE

IN WIGS AND WINGS

"Coat Tales" Deserves Less Severe Censure than That Meted Out.

By HEYWOOD BROUN.

stance.

and receives the reply "Ida Noe."

like this:

"You don't know her name?" "You're a liar, I do. Ida Noe."

"But you just said you didn't." There is much more, and we remember that we always feared the two comedians never would extricate themselves from their misunderstanding.

characters to such an extent that the puzzlement. The last act of "Coat- but as for life in general Pippa her-Tales" harasses its folk overmuch, self was no more of a bull. Things get so badly tangled that they never do come out, but simply end. 1 and 2 is abundant. And farce is "Spare no expense." probably the most difficult of all dramatic forms from the technical side. seen in the last two seasons. The dif- bounces off a kidney, ficulty of farce lies in the fact that once the laugh has begun it must be maintained. A spectator may cease from weeping only to cry again, but if he is allowed to lose his appreciation him laugh again. The farce writer puts his best ma-

the second act, for a laugh gathers momentum. A tumble might fall flat in Act I and yet be ever so funny in the week after a vacation of six weeks. middle of Act 3. This tendency, of No actress has been quite so well cast enough for the last act, his third best form of fairness. won't, and not infrequently the poor There is a little of the eternal author has used up all but his fourth trained nurse in every woman, but ever and fifth best. And so the audience so much more in Martha Hedman. pauses, thinks, and, catching its Beauty is usually an irritant. No breath, remarks: "What utter rot this is, after all." Another farce has been a Mary Pickford film in which the NOAT-TALES" deserves better heroine does not give the baby a treatment than it has re- closeup bath. Bables should wash on ceived at the hands of most their own time, or, at any rate, baths of the reviewers. It is not an expert should be heard and not seen. The farce, but it is far from slovenly. The most needful washing concerns the fun of farce lies in complication, and films themselves. Pictures would be Edward Clark's play suffers from too better if the movie authors would great a store of the life-giving sub- agree to scrape off the jam, the sugar and the treacle which lie heavy upon There was once a burlesque joke, or the films. The movies will not grow rather there is a joke, since burlesque up until they are done, or less perrecognizes no past tense in humor, concerning a young lady named Ida Noe pet kittens, pupples and faithful (pronounced "I dunno"). The first hounds. And we think they would be funny man remarks "I gotta girl." The better off without purling brooks. The second inquires "What's her name?" conventions which clutter up the pictures are for the most part unneces-The dialogue then follows, something sary. Nobody but a movie author bewho can remain indifferent while a the pictures need. Some day the ar- can be done about it. tist will starve instead of unleading his masterpiece upon a captain of in-In fact, as often as not there was no dustry. The captain of industry, of escape except a slapstick or a song course, is distinguished by the big black eigar. He is the man who goes Farce writers should avoid Ida Noe to smash in Reading in the third reel. situations. It is possible to tangle up That is a redeeming feature of the films. It must be admitted that they audience will lose its sense of fun in are bearish toward the stock market,

On the other hand, two acts of the in plays and pictures, but we are still McGregor and Elizabeth Jane. new play are excellent. The fun of waiting to hear somebody exclaim,

A bullet fired in a serious film strikes We think that "Fair and Warmer" is somebody just above the heart. In a the only expert farce New York has Kcystone Comedy the projectile

A Year of "The Boomerang."

Second year of "The Boomerang"! And a real second year-not one conof the comic claims of a farce even veniently adopted for advertising purfor a moment it is difficult to make poses. The production at the Belasco has been there since August 10, 1915, and it will soon begin shooting at the terial well up in the play, say early in mark established by Mr. Manners's "Peg o' My Heart." Martha Hedman, incidentally, returns to the cast this course, is in favor of the farce writer. in a number of seasons. Aside from It is easier to make an audience laugh her particular talents for the role, Miss as the play goes on; but, on the other Hedman is physically in entire accord hand, the strain upon the author in- with the schome of the play. She is creases disproportionately. While his placidly beautiful. One usually has to second best material may do well be operated upon to encounter this patient's fever would subside if Helen of Troy entered the room when he tugged the bell rope. Yet for all her Life in all its here and thereness charm Miss Hedman cheers, but does beckors to the movie men, but their not inebriate. An excellent actress, a part in "Very Good Eddie" for the eyes are fixed on certain set pieces of we'll wager she'd be a darned good sentiment. Some day we hope to see trained nurse, ninth

Street

THE dramatic department is in receipt of the following pathetic

Gentlemen: I want to ask a little favor of you. It seems that I am going to have two little girls, cousins from Worcester, Mass., visiting me next week. About a month ago I wrote to them, telling them that if they would come I would take them to the Hippodrome. I thought that I had seen a Hippodrome advertisement stating that it would reopen early in August; now I see a sign which says "early in September." But the little girls are coming and are looking forward to seeing the Hiplooking forward to seeing the Hip-podrome show with a great deal of pleasure, so their mother writes me. Now, here is where I want to im-Now, here is where I want to impose on your good nature, if I can. Could you use your influence with the theatrical people to get them to run the show at the Hippodrome on, say, August 10, just as if nothing had happened? Just an afternoon performance would do, and, as the little girls never have seen ANY Hippodrome show, it wouldn't be necessary to put on the new one scheduled for September. I realize that the cast would hardly feel like going on in a show in which they were not letter perfect, and, besides, I would not think of putting the Hippodrome people to so much trouble. So it would be all right if they just give last year's show they just give last year's show-the skating scene, for instance, and the rose ladder, and perhaps the little dwarfs who did the tumbling. I know the little girls would like that, and it would seem just as good to them as a new show. If you could see the little girls how cunning they are—you would realize why I hate to disappoint them and why I am asking this rather "nervy" favor of you. Yours truly, ROBERT C. BENCHLEY.

P. S.—Of course, I would expect to pay for my three seats and not "graft" them from you, as I re-alize that a great many demands are made upon you, and do not care to be a nuisance.

In these days, when so much is being done for the Belgians, it would be a pires, and there are a few persons graceful act on the part of the Hippowho can remain indifferent while a sist Mr. Benchley in his difficulty. At young artist starves in his sport shirt. all events, his letter is referred to Mr. A little healthy pessimism is what Dillingham in the hope-that something

Columbia Theatre.

The Columbia Theatre comes forward with its annual evidence that the theatrical season is on. Another year of burlesque will begin promptly at 2:15 o'clock to-morrow afternoon when "The Merry Rounders" will move into the Columbia. A weekly change of programme will again be the polnolds, George F. Hayes, May Latham, was it: We have noted the phrase in books, Ruth Wesley, Frank Ward, Eugene

A COUSIN TO DAVID.

Vallie Martin, who has been given joint reasons that she has talent and is Mr. Belasco's cousin.

It's Beginning Again!

*BROADWAY AND BUTTERMILK," to-morrow evening at the Maxine Elliott. This, the second production of the season, is the first of an expected avalanche of plays from the prolific pen of Willard Mack. Not only that, but it serves to bring the bubbling Blanche Ring back to Broadway-if not to buttermilk. Mr. Mack wrote the piece as a straight comedy, under the title of "Jane O'Day from Broadway." When Miss Ring became the star of the production, however, a couple of songs were thrown in for good measure.

"Broadway and Buttermilk" is the story of a metropolitan but kind-hearted milliner who spends a vacation in Killimuck Falls and incidentally takes the village by storm. In the supporting cast will be Helen Lowell, Calvin Thomas, Josephine Morse, Fayette Perry, William P. Carleton, Knute Erickson, Tommy Meade, Charles Withers and Charles Walton. Ben Teal has attended to the staging.

SEVEN CHANCES," Tuesday evening at George M. Cohan's. With his customary reticence, David Belasco does not permit much advance information to trickle into the papers. It is certain, however, that the piece is a comedy by Roi Cooper Megrue, not entirely unknown as an author, and it would not be surprising to learn that the seven chances were concerned with as many young women. It is also known that the play has

In the cast are Frank Craven, Otto Kruger, Harry Leighton, Hayward Ginn, Charles Brokate, Rowland Lee, Allen Thomas, the Misses Carroll McComas, Anne Meredith, Marion Abbott, Helen MacKeller, Florence Deshon, Alice Carroll, Lillian Spencer, Emily Callaway, Beverly West and others.

"CHEATING CHEATERS," Wednesday evening at the Eltinge. They call it a "satirical farce melodrama," and the reports from out of town have it that it is all of that. Max Marcin, author of "The House of Glass," will collect the royalties. The entertainment is a detective-crook-gun play in four acts, with one bang on top of another.

Among those present will be Marjorie Rambeau, Cyril Keightley, William Morris, Robert McWade, Edouard Durant Winifred Harris, Gypsy O'Brien and the customary first-nighters.

"THE SILENT WITNESS," Thursday evening at the Longacre. Here w have a drama by Otto Hauerbach, hitherto a concocter of musical comedy librettos. H. H. Frazee is making the production, and the announcement includes the word "startling."

The cast includes Henry Kolker, not seen hereabouts since "Our Wives": Paul Everton, David Higgins, DeWitt C. Jennings, Donald Gallaher, Theodore Kehrwald, Henry Duffey, Will Gregory, Richard Hale, S. Hatakenaka, Nathaniel Anderson, Emilie Polini, Miriam Doyle, Maude Gilbert, Florence Neark and Mrs. Jacques Martin, YVETTE," Thursday evening at the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre. The first out-and-out musical piece of the young season. Benjamin Thorne Gilbert has written the book, and Frederick Herendeen has turned out the music and the lyrics. The acts are two in number, and one of the characters is a sausage manufacturer.

The company includes Chapine, who hasn't any other name; John W. Ransone, of blessed memory; Cyril Chadwick, Rose Lehart, Crawford Kent, Rena Parker, Welch C. Homer and Roshanara, Indian dancer,

THE FAME OF ARNOLD.

A RNOLD DALY received a letter last week-"just before going on in 'Kisses' at the Palace Theatre," ac-The company includes Abe Rey- cording to Walter Kingsley. This

> Tokio, Japan, July 6, 1916. Dear Mr. Arnold Daly:

I have no doubt that you will have I have no doubt that you will have certainly astonished in getting the letter from me who am quite a stranger to you. The reason why I have write you this letter is that I have much interesting in kinematograph. I saw "Exploits of Elaine." In my habit my collective heart induce me to collect general photos of famous actors and actresses in the world.

Some Furnness and American actors.

Some European and American actors and actresses kindly accepted my offer in giving me their photos. I reoffer in giving me their photos. I regret that I can not to acrease your photo in my album. I would thank you to let me have one of your photos and taken having yourself's hand write signature on it. I sincerely trust that you will have no objection in accepting this offer. I thank you in anticipated for you kindly sending me your photos to my collective heart. sending me your photos to my col-lective heart. As my English is not Society.

grammatical and broken I don't know custom of your country.

Please excuse me. I am sure that I will always be one of your admirers and friends of Japan. Yours faithfully, OCTAVIUS H. HARA, 413 Minamishinagawa Tokio, Japan. By way of furnishing a happy ending to the story, it should be added that Mr. Daly "instructed his valet to send his photograph to Mr. Hara."

Stampeders on the Roof. Tuesday evening will be Stampede Night atop the New Amsterdam, Numerous lasso (beg pardon, lariat) artists will be present as the guests of Will Rogers, and will display their world's record. prowess with the rope.

American Defence Benefit.

A showing of "The Fall of a Nation" will take place at the Hotel Nassau, Long Beach, next Wednesday evening in aid of the families of Guardsmen at the front. The performance is under the auspices of the American Defence

Where Plays Continue.

COMEDY AND FARCE.

CORT ..... "Coat-Tales" ELTINGE...."Fair and Warmer" BELASCO.....The Boomerang"

MUSICAL.

NEW AMSTERDAM ..... "Ziegfeld Follies" ASTOR ..... "Step This Way" (Lew Fields) WINTER GARDEN..... "The Passing Show of 1916" CASINO..... "Very Good Eddie" NEW AMSTERDAM ROOF ... "Ziegfeld Midnight Frolic"

A LIGHTNING CHANGESS.

Blanche

Ring Broadway and Buttermille"

Maxine

Boomerand

Belasco.

ONE thing a women never can do is to get dressed in a hurry. She can clean a house in ten minutes, prepare a meal in five, scamper through a fortune in no time at all. But for the arduous operation of dressing she requires a period of time that is entirely free from arbitrary boundaries.

In the light of these w. k. facts, when a young woman can make three distinct and complete changes of costume in less than nine minutes the event is worthy of more than passing notice. It is almost epochal. Yet this feat is performed by Ina Claire, of the "Ziegfeld Follies," six nights a week and twice on Wednesdays and Satur-

At exactly 10:42 each evening Miss Olaire makes her appearance in the dress and attitude of Jane Cowl, the tearful heroine of "Common Clay." Garbed in a simple tailored suit, she occupies the stage one minute to commiserate with the audience on the succession of wespy parts which have befallen Miss Cowl. "Three years ago I had a crying part in 'Within the Mr. Hobart outdid himself when he of the least important an-Law'," she wails, "and my God! it was Cowl, when she dives through the Smith and Jones. "An Open Secret" speculation in theatrical circles conwings to her special dressing room, was tried out briefly on the road last cerning the identity of the director, erected hard by. Stage hands and season and failed dismally. Reports as he refuses to allow his name to be her path, and great care is taken that the play could not have been much campaign. no careless piece of property or stray worse if all the acts had been played little chorus girl blocks the way in her at once. rush for her room.

gen has entered to prepare for Miss the management realizes that the play Claire's second impersonation - that of has not a ghost of a chance for success the athletic prima donna and movie The scenery, in fact, has been acquired star, Miss Geraldine Farrar. A man in from Cain's storehouse, and will doubt- instead of $600, as first reported. the wings with a stop watch clocked less be immediately recognized by a Miss Claire's second entrance in the majority of first nighters. As for the Spanish garb of Carmen as 10:46:15. company, there is no one in the cast farce by Percy Mackaye, is scheduled She quits the stage at 10:47:50, with who comes within seventy-five miles of for fall production. her hands struggling to unwind her being a star. sash all the way to the dressing room.

Here she rapidly slips into a ballroom creation and a red wig. Her maid accompanies her back through the wings, hooking the dress en route, and just completing her task as Miss Claire enters at 10:51:45 in the role of Billie that the performance will begin at 8. he had taken the plot of the piece Burke, the titian-topped actress, who first dramatized pajamas. This characterization is introduced by a pretty sentiment expressed by Allyn King, week, the reason being that it has failed compelled to bring suit in order to who says, by way of announcement: "Miss Billie Burke, fairest flower on the screen of time." Here is Mr. Hobart's other clever line, being a deft were entered into a long time ago call- for the role of Nora in the forthcomcompliment to Mrs. F. Ziegfeld, jr., ing for its appearance on the road; it ing revival of "A Doll's House." wife of the originator and owner of the 'Follies."

A reader handy with figures will discover from this score that Miss Claire every suffering husband will agree is a F. C. SCHANG.

Loew's American Roof.

week, and others will include Billy engagement. Fred and Annie Pelot.

Glen Islands.

The second month of Glen Islands under the new regime is said to have witnessed the complete transformation of that haven of beauty. Among the attractions are everything that an amusement park should have, with one or two additional thrown in.

Luna Park.

Luna Park has added two thrillers and Schenck, McKay and Ardine, Stan o its free attractions. They are De Stanley, James Conlon and Grace and torcycle number.

Frank Craven and Helen Mac Keller "Seven Chances" Cohan

Stage Items as They Never Will Be Sent Out From the Managers' Offices.

SHAKING UP THE NEWS

By GEORGE S. KAUFMAN.

composed this line.

Miss Claire devotes exactly sixty drama by Edward Brown, is to be proseconds to the characterization of Miss duced in New York in November by seconds to the characterization of Miss scene shifters are on the job to police from out of town, in fact, had it that used in conn

ush for her room.

Meanwhile, Sam Hardy as Lou-Tellethe production of "An Open Secret," as evening the curtain will ascend some lorn hope that they can save the show. time between 8:30 and 9, despite the to attract the public. The end of the collect. play's New York engagement is not neis simply quitting because it isn't mak-

Mary Leslie will be out of the cast of "Where Am I?" for several weeks on account of illness. Her absence will decidedly weaken the production.

Laura Lyric signed a three years' film contract yesterday at $60 a week,

"Where Do You Go From Here?" &

Walter Smythe and Lucille Love, the When "The Glittering Princess" dancers, have been added to the cast opens at the Alabaster Theatre this of "The Cherry Sundae" in the for-

James Wellman, author of "The announcement in the advertisements Other Cheek," yesterday admitted that from "The Left Ear," a play submitted "The Broken Ankle" will close at the to him by an unknown. The latter Buckingham Theatre at the end of this will be paid full royalty and will not be cessitated by the fact that contracts Trixle Friganza has been engaged

THE WEEK'S VAUDEVILLE BILLS

has occupied slightly less than nine minutes for her three changes, which last name unknown), will offer the head-Coney, in fact—the programme at the line act at the Palace during the com- New Brighton is headed by Grace La ing week. As the announcement so ex- Rue, songstress. Charles Gillen will pressively puts it, Miss Sawyer "has to supply the necessary piano accompaniher credit a three months' run at the ment. Also on the bill will be Ed Rey-The programme at Loew's Ameri- Palace in modern dances, but she has nard, ventriloquist, returning to vaudecan Theatre and Roof for the first convinced the directors that since then ville after four years spent in conductthree days of the week will include so many new steps have been evolved ing a hotel, or something, in a combina-"The Dream Pirates," a musical com- that another engagement is imperative tion of vontriloquism and dancing edy; Lew Hilton and Dave Mallon, and if the theatre is to maintain its record called "Before the Court." In this he Charlie Chaplin's newest, "One a. m." for being the dance centre of the will have the assistance of Mme. George Bancroft and Octavia Broske amusement universe." Thus it will be Bianca. will top the bill the latter half of the seen that it is an absolutely imperative Others include Andrew Tombes and fair of the present day in New York," pers. which is interesting but vague. Others on the bill will be Ciccolini, the once Leo Beers.

At the Royal there will be a "request week." It is said that the balloting has resulted in the acquisition of Van Guzmani Trio.

Lola Wentworth; "Cranberries," & Tracey and Nat Vincent, song writers; Edwin Arden will be present in a playlet; the Primrose Four, who sing, Irving Jones and Roy Johnson and sketch, "Close Quarters," by Oliver as you might expect; Violinsky, the White. It is described as "an odd af- Crisps and the Australian Wood Chop-

The programme at Henderson's Music high-priced tenor; Morton and Moore, Hall will include Emily Francis Hooper comedians; Kalmar and Brown, with and Joseph Herbert, jr.; Mildred Rich-"Nurseryland"; Lydell and Higgins, in ardson, prima donna; Dwyer and Fay, "A Friend of Father's"; Al Shayne and in "What's It All About"; "Mr. Inquisitive," a miniature musical comedy; Howard, Kibel and Herbert; the Metropolitan Dancing Sextet, Comfort and King and the Costa Troupe.

The Prospect, as has come to be the Phil and De Phil, in a high wire act, Eddie Parks, Roy and Arthur, Bert and custom, will break the week in the and Harry Casteel, with a daring mo- Betty Wheeler, Paul Gordon and the middle, offering new bills to-morrow and Thursday.